TPODMEP Announces New Science & Technology Scholarship Program, For Undergraduate Students

(Cooper City, FL – August 1st, 2009) ---- A new Science & Technology Scholarship Program, designed to provide a number of deserving undergraduate students with financial assistance and rewards, majoring in science and technology degree programs, was announced today.

The Science & Technology Scholarship Program, launched by The Power of Diversity Mentorship Exchange Program (TPODMEP) will make scholarship money available, to selected undergraduate students, majoring in science and technology degree programs, with a minimum GPA of a 3.0, starting in the fall of 2010.

The Power of Diversity Mentorship Exchange Program (TPODMEP) Science & Technology Scholarship Program seeks to increase the number of students earning associate and bachelor degrees in emerging fields within science and technology. In addition, scholarship applicants will be evaluated by an appointed committee and will be selected based on having a minimum 3.0 GPA and actively pursuing a career in science or technology.

"We are proud to spearhead this one-of-a-kind scholarship program," said Nicole L. Carter, COO of TPODMEP. "This scholarship program will provide educational opportunities that will provide our students with the skills needed to compete for top jobs."

"Science and Technology is the driving force behind the workplace," said Betty Saintvil-Edmond, Executive Vice President of TPODMEP. "This program will help ensure that our students have access to educational opportunities designed to help them effectively compete in the today's competitive work environment."

ABOUT THE POWER OF DIVERSITY MENTORSHIP EXCHANGE PROGRAM (TPODMEP)
